OLD WAYS AND DAYS

There are Ohio farmers who could husk corn with the best of 'em—no doubt of it. Unfortunately, they have no annual championship to give them a chance to rip up husks and break off nubbins for glory.

Out in the corn belt there is a championship. Orville Welch has just won it for husking and loading 2,225 pounds of corn in an hour and 20 minutes, which might keep even an Ohio farmer hustling.

Champion welch probably will be offered no vaudeville contracts, even though it is pretty safe to depend on seeing him at least once in every news reel for the next few weeks. After all, there's nothing sensational about husking corn, even at championship speed. Too many corn huskers, toppled over shocks and felt out the heavy ears before Welch was born to permit any note of novelty in his creditable achievement.

Husking corn for a championship is a reminder that certain other championships popular not so long ago, have disappeared. There were the marathon dance championships, for instance. Where are the persevering youngsters who struggled for them? And there is the morbid public curiosity that made marathon dancing a profitable, if idiotic, occupation?

There were tree-setting champions, rocking-chair champions, flag-pole-sitting champions, food-eating champions, and just plain sitting champions. They prospered mightily, got their pictures in the newspapers and their achievements in the foreground of public interest. They sprang, fully armed for their silly battles with fatigue, from nowhere and returned quickly to the same place. They were symbols of the confusing transition from an era of prosperity, in which the public spent its money for almost anything, to an era of deflation, in which quarters and half-dollars came harder and are sent on their way again with more forethought.

Men husked corn in friendly competition a hundred years ago, and they're still at it. It's pretty hard to down the amusements that were founded on solid foundations in the old days. Quilting bees may be the next thing to bob up in favor. Who knows?

What Others Say

GRIDIRON AND MELTING POT
Thirty years ago the roster of the average football team still read like the register of voters in a Vermont village. The Anglo-Saxon complexion of our student bodies had scarcely been broken as yet by names that were alien to the original make-up of our population. The only exceptions were a sprinkling of Germans, as truly Nordic as the early settlers of New England, and an occasional Irishman. A still more striking exception was the band of American aborigines who composed the Carlisle team. Now it is only in the South and in a few of the northeastern states that the football teams maintain the earlier American tradition.

The teams of the Western conference, the "Big Ten," that is largely made up of the state universities of the Middle West, reflect the heavy infiltration of new racial stocks that has been going on during the past few decades. The older Teutonic element is represented by such names as Nussipickel, Hedtke and Schultz on the Illinois team, and German names may usually be found in the Wisconsin line-up. The most revolutionary change is seen in the frequency of Slavic names that are symptomatic of the more recent immigration from eastern Europe. Five Slavs played for Notre Dame in last week's game. Fordham has a Danowski. Ohio States a Vucknick, Michigan a Marcovsky, and our recent visitors from Oregon a Mikulak.

The Mediterranean peoples also contribute a goodly share of material to the melting pots that are our football stadiums. Of Italians there are Verducci, of California; Pasquale and Antolini, of Colgate; and De Pasque, of old Amherst, alma mater of Mr. Coolidge and the late Dwight Morrow; while Carideo, of Notre Dame, is still a name to be conjured with in the West. Cornell, with its Viviano and Ferraro and its two Spanish Martinez-Zorrillas, has an especially large Latin contingent. Rivero, of Columbia, is also of Spanish ancestry, and Villanova has a Ventura, along with its Casays and Donohues and O'Donnells. And one of the halfbacks on no less a team than the Army bears the un-American name of Chung-Hoon.—New York Herald Tribune.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Diary of a modern Peppys: Up to find an autographed copy of Katherine Brush's "Red Headed Woman" and no American writer, save Sinclair Lewis, so deftly analyzes the charm and nobility of a small city. So casting accounts and amazed at my penury in contrast to three years ago.

Through the town, stopping here and there, to talk to Fanny Ward, Bert Lytell and Ted Lewis and to try on my white wristlet. Very noble. Home and worked until late and then off to Rube and Irma Goldberg's 15th wedding anniversary celebration in their West 75th street home.

A mighty gathering there, including Ellis Lardner, Ring's wife, Grant and Kate Rice and daughter, Florence, Billy Seaman and Phyllis, George Gearshwin, Miriam Hopkins, Lynne and Emily Overman, George Olsen, Groucho Marx, Cande and Leslie Nast, John La Catta, May Wilson, Preston and others, and one of the finest evenings ever I had.

The rear of that bleak and depressing pile known at Bellevue hospital looks down upon a yacht landing on the East River. Convalescents—many charity patients—have a view of millionaires' bargues tugging at anchor, glittering imported autos rolling up with their fashionable crowds to be taken off in waiting dinghies, etc. etc. It is a contrast of wretchedness and the froth of life that remains with one for hours.

Incidentally, I once talked to a famous Bellevue doctor who voiced a starkly sound philosophy I never heard before. "There are no illegitimate children," he said. "Only illegitimate parents."

Gene Tunney was recently a yacht guest for a week end. Running into squally weather, the champion began to shade off into a slight green around the gills and stretched out in a capacious deck chair. His host, passing saw his discomfort and chirped "I think I could put you away myself right now." Tunney's eyes fluttered and he replied wilyly: "I wish you would."

Personal nomination for the best acting among all the Bennetts—that of Richard Bennett, himself.

Jack Benny tells of the dialect Bronxite who popped into a delicatessen to look around. He inquired the price of various articles, such as preserved fruits, home made cakes, roast turkeys and the like. Finally, pointing to a hefty Kentucky ham, he asked the price. As he did so there was a violent clap of thunder and vivid flash of lightning. Cowering and looking upward, the Bronxite whined: "Can't I even ask?"

At one of the theaters recently a certain actor upon speaking his lines, was almost drowned out by a noise like a cricket obligato on a summer night. It was resumed every time he opened his mouth. It developed that in the audience was a fellow with a noise making device, hired by his wife. The night before, she and detectives caught him flagrante delicto in a hotel room. Broadway at play and what nice clean fun!

Back stage an outfront demonstration of this kind is known as "taking a toss."

In the late fall Fifth avenue streams into its most terrifying human energy. Everybody who considers himself anybody is in town and anxious to be seen. The street is ablaze with glittering motor equipage, shop windows are at their best and sidewalk promenaders are tant with a delicious tension. Just a few weeks and they find the city dull, the opera and theaters a bore and are off on their seasonal heira to Palm Beach, the Lido and Cuba. No metropolitan phenomenon so strikingly symbolizes the squirrel in the revolving cage. And its utter futility.

"I suppose," writes Janet R., "you have been getting a load of that ultra-British woodsy-poodsy talk that the flappers are spouting over their cocktails. How about it for a current pain in the neck?" Isn't it frightfully simpy-wimpy?

Surgery in Paralysis

Infantile paralysis is a disease that has taxed the intelligence of modern medicine. Its effect may be pitiful, because it sometimes leaves the patient in a crippled condition.

This disease goes through three stages. First is the acute illness, next is the stage of repair, and then the third, the chronic stage.

It is during the stage of repair, which usually lasts about two years, that permanent deformities may be prevented. Sometimes this can be done by the use of suitable apparatus. The muscles that have not been completely paralyzed should be strengthened by proper muscle training.

At the end of this time it is important that plans be made for permanent relief of the remaining disability. It is here that "reconstructive surgery" plays an important part.

Experience has shown, however, that such surgery is usually more successful in older patients than in the very young.

For this reason, it has been advised that more conservative measures, treatment by muscular development, be continued in small children until they reach the age of ten or twelve years. If the patient is getting along with braces and is satisfied to continue wearing them, a radical operation can be postponed.

If infantile paralysis an operation is not intended to cure the disease, of course. Its purpose is to overcome the disability, or to prevent any further injury to the body. The surgeon attempts to improve the working power of the impaired machinery. Often the only operation needed is upon the tendon or muscle which has become permanently paralyzed.

After infantile paralysis, a common defect is the condition known as "drop foot." This is due to paralysis of one of the muscles extending down to the foot. By means of a simple operation, the tendon of the diseased muscle is moved to that of a healthy muscle. In that way the tendency of the foot to drop is quickly overcome.

Other similar operations have been advised to correct other actual deformities of muscles and tendons. Not all operations have been entirely successful, but in the majority of cases reported there has been tremendous improvement.

The Stars Say—

For Tuesday, November 17

The stellar mutations for this day augur some anxiety and commotion in the daily affairs, with possible reaction on the smooth running of employment. It would be well not to run cross-purposes with those in authority. Also a general precaution and conservatism is enjoined in all matters as there is a menace of a disconcerting or vicious force likely to produce disturbance.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a mediocre year, but one calling for care and discreet management of all affairs and personal contacts. Employment especially calls for restraint and good judgment. Let superiors be prone to faultfinding. A child born on this day should be given early training and discipline in self-restraint and wise attitudes toward those whom fortune places over them.

SYNOPSIS

Levely Fanchon Meredith is wanted by the San Francisco police in connection with a murder committed by her sweetheart, "Tony." Fanchon did not know he was a gunman. She escaped by airplane under the name of "Smith." Aloud is Evelyn Howard, whom Fanchon had met on a voyage from Hawaii. Evelyn is going to New York to live with her aunt, the wealthy Mrs. Carstairs whom she never saw. The plane crashes and Fanchon is the only survivor. To get away from Tony and the past, she goes to the Carstairs home as "Evelyn." A strong bond of affection grows between Mrs. Carstairs and her "niece." Collin Carstairs, the son, is at first antagonistic because of his "cousin's" Hawaiian escapades and her self-righteous attitude when his mother offered aid, but Fanchon's sincerity overcomes his objections. They fall in love. After a happy summer at Southampton, Fanchon makes her debut in New York. Collin, though realizing their relationship is a barrier, cannot profess his love. Fanchon cannot acknowledge hers without revealing her identity. Later a threatening note comes from Tony. She visits him and repulses his advances. Tony informs Fanchon that Evelyn is alive, but has lost her memory. He threatens to expose Fanchon unless she introduces him to Mr. Carstairs as "Cesare Gilli." Although claiming he has Evelyn in his apartment, Tony refuses to let Fanchon see her. Two days later, he calls at the Carstairs home.

CHAPTER XXII

Collin Carstairs postponed his calling. It was perfectly evident to him that quietly, almost unobtrusively and, as it were, naturally, Cesare Gilli has become an intimate of the Carstairs household. He was a rather silent, dark, thin, spoke of his past. Fanchon existed rarely, and then with a deep melancholy which his hearers, not in the least understanding, still respected. He had excellent manners, good looks, and a great deal of charm. Mrs. Carstairs found herself liking him—with reservations. The reservations had to do with her niece. She found that, for some curious reason, the girl spoke of him as "Tony." Fanchon, not herself when Gilli was around. Had it not been for this strange effect upon his "old friend," Jennie Carstairs would have liked him far better. But as it was, her long experience of Europe and Europeans created a little intangible doubt of this almost too correct, and sometimes quite evasive young man, in her mind. It was nothing she could lay her finger on and something she kept to herself, even when Collin, losing no time in expressing his disapproval, informed his mother, in no uncertain terms, that there was something decidedly "fishy" about their new acquaintance. He, too, had noted Gilli's effect upon the girl he loved. He said to Jennie: "She's afraid of him."

"But," said Mrs. Carstairs, "that is nonsense! It is your imagination."

"No, it is not. She is always on her guard when she talks with him, when any of us are there. Several times, when they have been alone together I have come into the room suddenly. I've found them arguing . . . oh, not loudly, but still none too pleasantly, that was obvious." He was silent, remembering that on one such occasion he had heard Gilli say, under his breath: "You'll play the game my way or not at all." Whatever it meant, it was pretty highbanded and Collin grew more and more to dislike the intruder.

Fanchon, tactfully questioned upon her knowledge of him, said evasively, that she had met him some years ago, that he had turned up in San Francisco and had been very kind to her there. She had not attempted to establish the fiction that her friendship with him dated from Hawaiian experiences. Tony, she knew, had never been to Hawaii and there was no sense in making things more difficult than they already were.

Evelyn and her present plight was very much on her mind and heart. On several occasions she had conquered her fear and horror of seeing the girl and had begged Tony to let her do so. But he refused. "You will only upset yourself—and her," he had said. "There is, really, nothing to be gained."

She was forced to agree with him. She lived in a constant state of fear concerning his unknown next move. For the present, he seemed content to drop in for tea, to be asked to dinner, to join them at the opera or at the theater or at a supper club. To be introduced to various of the Carstairs circle, with whom he became very popular. He was something new; he was, to all intents and purposes, vouched for; and he was—he must be—eligible. He dressed well, appeared to have money, and now and then returned the invitations given to him by small, perfectly correct little parties. The girls found him "knock out," the men agreed that he was a good sport.

But Fanchon knew he was marking time.

One day, in early winter, she had a letter from him. She opened it with a sinking heart and read the few lines it contained.

"I must see you, alone," it began without preamble. "Please arrange a time. I spoke the other day of wishing to visit the Metropolitan museum. Unless I hear from you I will call for you tomorrow at 3."

He had moved to a small, good hotel in New York and was living there for the time being. To Fanchon's inquiries . . . "Evelyn?" he answered carelessly that she was still in Brooklyn and was cared for; he saw her often.

On the following day he called for Fanchon and they walked the short way from the apartment to the museum together. They went into one of the less frequented rooms, empty as it happened upon that occasion, save for the incurious guard near the door. Leaning his arm on a case containing ancient Japanese swords, Tony came to the point.

"There is to be a masquerade ball," he said, "at Mrs. Van Surdam's. In two weeks. I have read it. You will get me an invitation. You will persuade Mrs. Carstairs to wear the emeralds she keeps, so wisely, in a safe deposit vault."

"Tony, what are you planning?" Fanchon whispered, white.

"You need not know, need have," he said, "no further responsibility."

She said, flatly: "I won't do it."

"I think you will. After this, if I am successful, you will not be troubled with me any longer. Unless you care to be. You would be wiser if you decided to care. To come with me. I doubt very much if we would ever be found. And perhaps we would not be looked for. Fanchon, for after all, the Carstairs would not care to make a scandal in their own family. Yes, I think you would be very wise to come away with me. Otherwise, you may be questioned . . . closely. Otherwise a number of unpleasant things might happen."

She realized that although he was apparently giving her a choice, he was in reality leaving her none. There was much unspoken threat in his words. If she did not—go away with him it would mean exposure and it would mean perhaps something dreadful happening to Evelyn.

How to Get Relief From Catarrh

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness, or head noises, go to Lease Drug Co. and Broadway Lease Drug Store or your druggist and get 1 oz of Parmit (Double Strength); take this home, add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little sugar. Take a tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises, clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. ## THEATER Attractions

"A DANGEROUS AFFAIR" is the feature today at the State. Jack Holt and Ralph Graves, popular screen buddies who are co-starred in this mystery film, can carve another notch of success on their guns. They not only hold the audience during the exciting scenes but they cause uncontrollable mirth in their own inimitable fashion—Jack Holt with his dry humor and Ralph Graves with his wise-cracking flippancies.

As police lieutenant and newspaper reporter, they start things humming in a sleepy Long Island town by framing a little robbery—and as a result find themselves involved in two murders and a jewel mystery! The picture is thrilling, weirdly exciting and exorbitantly funny.

Sally Blane is the girl.

"THE VIKING," picture which cost the lives of 26 men in the making is the attraction today at the Grand.

"The Viking" is fully recorded in sound and visualizes all the stern beauty of the vast, awe-inspiring ice-fields which hem the coast of Labrador; shows you the intrepid sealers jumping nonchalantly from one floating cake of "pan" ice to another as they engage in their hazardous business of killing and skinning seals; and, for the first time, through the amazing medium of the sound recording apparatus, you hear the crunching and groaning of the loose, shifting ice, even as you see it heaving and twisting in continuous unrest.

But there is much more to this picture than these strange and interesting backgrounds. A tensity

JOHNSON ROLE STILL DOUBTFUL

Independents Will Probably Ask Him to Seek Nomination

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—Will Hiram W. Johnson seek the Republican presidential nomination against Herbert Hoover.

He will be asked to, when he gets here this week or next, by some of the western independents in congress who are down on a number of the major policies of the present chief executive. Party leaders are hopeful that he will clear up his intended part in the 1932 race.

Senator Brookhart of Iowa is a chief mover in a boom for his California colleague; he has asserted that no only independents but "many of the regulars" would join him if Johnson placed his hat in the ring.

The question was fanned up to energetic interest by Senator Johnson himself when he recently attacked the Hoover administration upon its relation with the League of nations in the dispute between China and Japan. He called for a ballot box repudiation of the Hoover policy.

The former Chicago mayor, William Hale Thompson wrote Brookhart that while he had no authority to launch a presidential boom for Johnson, he would be glad to confer with the Californian on the subject.

Significant in the opinion of many political heads, is the entry of Representative Swing into the sensational race for California. Swing is a close friend of Johnson and will open his Shortridge in next spring's primary. If Swing and Johnson combine for a battle against the president in his home state next year something like a showdown in Republican affairs is expected.

2 OHIO CITIES BEGIN DRIVES

$5,650,000 Is Cleveland Goal; Columbus Asks $897,098 to Help Its Needy

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 16.—Two "early bird" breakfasts, one for men workers and another for women, today formally launched Columbus' campaign for a community fund of $897,098.

Immediately after the breakfasts, more than 4,000 workers took the field to solicit subscriptions for the fund.

Newspapers, churches, civic organizations and other groups have participated in the preliminary campaign to impress upon the city's more fortunate citizens the necessity for contributing more generously this year than ever before.

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 16.—Cleveland, which annually raises the largest amount of any city operating under the community fund plan, today was in the midst of a drive for its greatest goal yet—$5,650,000.

The campaign was launched last night during the fifth of a series of national broadcasts given under the auspices of President Hoover's committee on unemployment relief. It was estimated that there are 11,000 families dependent upon agencies supported by the community fund.

debts, or Kerensky's, and we cannot stand that.

It is true that our own high finance, with issues of worthless stocks, has taken at least 20 billions from our own foolish home speculators.

And many American billions that international finance traded for the worthless bonds of innumerable foreign countries, will never come back. But that does not wipe out Russia's refusal to pay our bankers.

Russia announces the biggest land plane built thus far, the ANT-14, with five engines, carrying 36 passengers and crew.

And worse news for those that shiver at the word "bolshivism," Russia announces her readiness to turn out these "carriers for troops" in mass production.

Let us hope all this is aimed at Japan, a nation well advanced in aviation and ready for trouble, but not aimed at this nation, tempting by rich and quite unprepared.

When women were striving for votes here and in England, assorted objections were offered. They would be governed by their husbands; they do not go to war, therefore they should not go to the polls; they do not understand government; they lack intellect, etc.

Mexico, enthusiastic for woman suffrage, in the first revolutionary enthusiasm, decides now that it will not do, for a new reason.

Dr. Amel Barocio Garcia, leading Mexican politician, says:

"Votes for women would be dangerous to the revolution, for the church of Rome is the owner of a majority of the feminine consciences in this republic."

JAPANESE ARMY IS "DIGGING IN"

Winter Clothing Issued Today To Troops In Manchuria

(By Associated Press)

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Nov. 16.—Winter clothing was being issued to Japanese troops in Manchuria today, and this, with the disposition of the troops in all three areas, who were holding communications systems in an iron grip, was considered to be Japan's answer to the League of Nations council and its hopes for peace.

Winter quarters were being prepared in all areas and the indication was that military leaders expect a winter long occupation of the territory.

Today is the day fixed in the council's previous resolution, adopted before adjournment at Geneva a fortnight ago for complete withdrawal of Japan's forces.

The Japanese are reported to be dominating the governments of Liaoning and Kirin provinces with sizable detachments. The force of 13,600 troops, as it stood after the Mukden coup of Sept. 18, is undiminished, except for about 200 killed or seriously wounded in engagements, and a fresh mixed brigade is on the way for replacements.

do more and more smokers say:

"I've changed to Chesterfield"

BECAUSE . . .

THEY'RE Milder. It's the tobaccos! The best tobaccos—the smoothest and mildest that money can buy—go into Chesterfield. Ripened and sweetened in the sunshine . . . cured by the farmer . . . then aged for two years in wooden hogsheads. No wonder you say, "They're so much milder!"

THEY TASTE BETTER. These mild smooth tobaccos are put together exactly right. That's Chesterfield's secret—but millions of smokers agree that the job couldn't be improved! Rich aroma of Turkish and mellow sweetness of Domestic, blended and cross-blended to Chesterfield's own BETTER TASTE.

THEY'RE PURE. Cleanliness and purity, always! Everything that goes into Chesterfield is tested by expert chemists . . . tested thoroughly. The purest cigarette paper made, burning without taste or odor. Sanitary manufacture . . . no hands touch your Chesterfields. They're as pure as the water you drink!

THEY SATISFY. You break open a clean, tight-sealed package. You light up a well-filled cigarette. Yes, sir . . . you're going to like this cigarette—you know that with your very first puff. And right there's where many a smoker changes to Chesterfield. They Satisfy!

A PROGRESSIVE NATION . . .

The virus of government interference with private enterprise has spread so far that those who read must realize the port toward which we are heading.

If this country were backward; if the industries were undeveloped; if its living standards were below any other nation, one might understand the motive which prompts advocates of government ownership to destroy our system of business and industry.

But with 5% of the world's population, we have accumulated, under a system of individual enterprise, half of all the railroad mileage in the world; three-fourths of all the telephones; nine-tenths of all the automobiles—and electrified home and industry far beyond all nations.

Even in the midst of our present depression—with the steady tax increase—the people of this country are better fed, better clothed and better housed than any other people on the face of the earth.

Yet these are the conditions those who are urging that the government go into the light and power industry are seeking to change.

What would be the result—more deficits and still higher taxes?

BARBERTON CLINCHES SHARE ON DISTRICT BIG TEN GRID TITLE

THE DAY IN SPORTS

WRESTLERS CLASH TUESDAY
HEADS WEEK'S SPORT MENU

Minus any local football activity, the week's sporting program is headed by the all-star wrestling show scheduled Tuesday night at the Memorial building auditorium. Salem High gridders, getting set for their annual Turkey day clash with Alliance High, will be idle until the day of that contest, leaving the coming weekend open for fans to inspect grid talent of neighboring colleges or high schools.

The wrestling show tomorrow will be the first presented in Salem in ten years, since grapplers used to clash in the old-style embroilings at the Roumanian hall in the days of Waco Jugo, Harry Maxwell, the "conductor-rasler," and other popular figures of a decade ago. The type of wrestling has changed greatly since those days, however, and tomorrow fans will be given a chance to witness the sport in its heyday of popularity.

Wood received today from Al Zili, Youngstown's popular ring impresario who is arranging the bouts, indicated that all was in readiness for the show and that Young Kops of Campbell and Carl Miller, Youngstown, will collide in the 10-minute luller, Walter Stratton, Leetonia, meets George Ligoeki of Battle Creek, Mich., in the main battle.

Muskingum college will represent Ohio in the nation's list of undefeated and untied football teams this season. The Muskies broke camp Saturday afternoon after handing Ashland a 24 to 0 defeat and by so doing finished the year on top of the Ohio conference group of schools.

Of equal importance was Ohio university's 13 to 9 victory over Miami at Athens which gave the Bobcats their third consecutive Buckeye Athletic association title, just a tiny blot, a 7 to 6 defeat by Indiana keeps the Cats out of the undefeated and untied class this year.

There is only one championship in the state remaining to be settled. That is the northwest Ohio crown and will be up for decision Saturday when Bluffton meets Defiance at that place. Defiance is favored to win.

Wittenberg remained in the undefeated but tied once class Saturday by trouncing Marshall college, 27 to 13. The Springfield eleven still has one hard game on its books, a contest with the University of Dayton this Saturday. Dayton trounced John Carroll, 27 to 0.

Eddie Westfall led Ohio Wesleyan to high scoring honors of the week when the Bishops downed Wabash, 60 to 0. Westfall made a trio of touchdowns and his passing accounted directly for another pair. This week Wesleyan will meet Western Reserve at Cleveland. Reserve won the annual city battle from Case Saturday, 9 to 6.

Ohio State reserves, fresh from a 25 to 0 victory over Akron Saturday, will meet the Illinois reserves at Champaign while Akron will entertain Baldwin-Wallace, undefeated, but tied. Sammy Drakulich of Salem, shone at quarterback for the Buckeyes Saturday.

Cincinnati came to life Saturday and trounced Heidelberg, 46 to 7, the most decisive defeat the Student Princes have suffered in three years. Denison rallied in the last part of the game to tie Oberlin at 6 all. This week Oberlin will entertain Mount Union and Denison will play at Wooster. Mount Union defeated Wooster Saturday 18 to 0.

UHRICHSVILLE WINS OVER NEW PHILLY

Magicians Hold Record of 3 League Victories; Salem Has Chance

Barberton's strong schoolboy gridders will claim the Northeastern Ohio Big Ten Interscholastic Athletic league football championship this year.

The Magicians will have a logical claim to the crown, for Saturday they won their third straight league victory, defeating Alliance High's touted eleven, 12-7, in a furious battle at Barberton.

Alliance's Second Defeat

It was only the second defeat of the year for Alliance, the strong offensive attack that has marked play of the Barberton team all season, being the feature of the contest. Barberton tallied both of its touchdowns in the first half, the first coming within the opening three minutes of play.

A pass, J. Williams to Conrad from midfield carried the ball to the Alliance 4 from where Jarina took it over on the second play.

The second touchdown developed early in the second period after Halfback Quinlan got off a poor punt that went out of bounds on the Alliance 30. Line plays, with Williams and Glue carrying the ball, advanced to the one-yard line, from where Williams plunged over the extra.

Barberton and Wooster are now tied for the Big Ten title with three victories each but Salem High's powerful eleven, with two league wins, still has a chance to grab a third share on the crown. The Quakers face Alliance Thanksgiving day while Wooster will play Niles Saturday.

Dover Trims Massillon

Bob Campiglio, backfield star of West Liberty, W. Va., teachers college, has strengthened his hold on first place in the national race for individual football scoring honors.

Campiglio scored one touchdown Saturday to turn his total points to 146, while his closest rival, Bob Monnett of Michigan State, failed to count. Monnett has 126 points.

AS NOTRE DAME, NORTHWESTERN WIN

Notre Dame had a punch only in one quarter in its game with the Navy, but that was enough. In the second period the Irish, paced by the fleet Marchmont Schwartz, raced across the Middles' goal line three times for twenty points. That represented all the scoring and Notre Dame walked off the field with a 29-0 victory. Schwartz is shown tearing through the Navy line for fifteen yards and a touchdown.

'Northwestern had to come from behind to defeat a stubborn Indiana grid eleven at Dyche Stadium, Evanston. The Wildcats scored a touchdown in the middle of the third quarter and then kicked successfully for the extra point to win by a slim margin, 7 to 6. "Pug" Rentner, Northwestern halfback, is shown going around Indiana's end in the first quarter.

BOWLING NEWS

Chet Drakulich's "Flaming Five" will bowl the Salem China company in another duckpin match at Schaefer's alleys at 7 tonight. "Red" White, Frank Corso, Patsy Konert, Bernard DeCora and Russ Stall-smith are asked to report.

Boardman Gridders Bow to Lorain, 3-0

LORAIN, Nov. 16.—A scrappy Mahoning county championship Boardman High team surprised the dopsters with the strength of its defense today but finally yielded, 3-0, to Lorain High.

The contest, tabbed as a "breather" for Lorain before their crucial game with Elyria, was more than a heavy breather for the powerful local team that has run rough-shod over all opposition.

Lorain was held scoreless until the final chapter when Busick drop-kicked a field goal for the 3-0 edge. The kick was made from the 25-yard line.

NATION'S GRID LEADERS FACE CRUCIAL TESTS

Yale Bulldogs to Battle Traditional Harvard Foe In East

TULANE VICTORIOUS OVER GEORGIA TEAM

Northwestern has narrow Escape from Defeat In Game with Indiana

(By Associated Press)
NE WYORK, Nov. 16.—The usual lull before Thanksgiving day cuts sharply into the national football schedule this week but Notre Dame, Harvard, Tulane, and Southern Methodist, among major unbeaten teams, all will be firing away to improve their records.

Harvard Plays Yale
Notre Dame and Harvard appear to be in the toughest spots. The Ramblers will dig in at South Bend to repel the invasion of Southern California's Trojans who have bowled over six opponents in a row since absorbing a beating by St. Mary's of Oakland, Calif., in the opening game of the season.

On paper, Harvard, only unbeaten and untied team in the east, looks too powerful for the Yale Bulldog but in this ancient rivalry season records count for less than nothing.

Tulane, victorious over Georgia last week should be able to take it easy against Sewanee, and Southern Methodist will be a heavy favorite over the Navy.

Tennessee Idle
A fifth national contender, Tennessee will be idle until Thanksgiving day when Gene McEver and his mates close their season against Kentucky.

Briefly here's the way the schedule shapes up in the various groups of conferences:

EAST—Harvard & Fordham, unbeaten, and Pittsburgh, defeated only by Notre Dame, looks strongest although New York university also must be given consideration despite defeats by Georgia and Oregon. Harvard-Yale clash heads the week's schedule. Fordham tackles another unbeaten eleven, Bucknell.

MIDWEST—Northwestern apparently has a strangle hold on big ten honors although the Wildcats' narrow escape with Indiana does not promise well for this week's battle with Iowa or the charity game with Purdue Nov. 28. Minnesota and Michigan are paired off in the big game this week. Purdue will play Indiana, Wisconsin will meet Chicago, and Illinois will encounter Ohio State. Michigan, Purdue, Ohio State and Minnesota are waging a tight battle for second place a present.

BIG SIX: Nebraska and Iowa State, undefeated in conference competition, will clash for the title this week, one other conference game pits Missouri against Kansas.

SOUTH: Tulane and Tennessee lead the parade with six straight victories. Tennessee is idle this week but Tulane meets Sewanee and should win decisively. Other conference games involve Georgia and Auburn, South Carolina and North Carolina State; Maryland and Washington Lee; Florida and Georgia Tech; and North Carolina and Duke.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

By Wanda Barton

Decorate with Stencils

"Never so happy as when I have a brush and paintpot in my hand and am about to embark on some amateur painting job," said one young housewife, admitting in the same breath that she really wasn't as skilful as she'd like. Painting one's own bookcases, tables, chairs, chests of drawers, and other miscellaneous items has become one of the great indoor sports in recent years. Indeed, the furniture makers and shops are encouraging the hobby by selling furniture that's finished except for the painting.

Decorative Effects

Careful examination of many such pieces reveals the fact that this is not done solely in the interests of economy. There isn't more than the paint's cost difference between the unfinished and the painted pieces. So it must be a generally recognized fact that the housewife's profit in painting her own furniture is largely the fun she gets out of doing the work.

Plain painting is simple enough, what with the many fine paints and quickly drying lacquers now on the market. It's when ambitious amateurs plan decorative effects that the job becomes a bit more difficult. Casual sprigs of flowers are good enough—or perhaps some arresting splashes of modernistic designs are used. Often the daring strips of raw colors produce an astonishingly cheerful result and the inexperienced home decorator hits by accident on results that the professional arrives at only by planning. But this is not the rule!

Using the Stencils

And if dependable results are demanded, then the stencil is one of the first aids to the home decorator. Moreover, it is now growing in vogue, which means that there is a generous variety of patterns from which to choose.

State of Ohio, Division of Insurance, Columbus, March 31, 1931. The undersigned, CHARLES T. WARNER, Superintendent of Insurance of the State of Ohio, hereby certifies that the BELT CASUALTY COMPANY, whose principal office is located at Chicago, State of Illinois, has complied with the laws of this State applicable to it and is authorized during the current year to transact in this State its appropriate business of insurance. A financial condition is shown by its annual statement to have been as follows on December 31, 1930. Aggregate amount of available assets, $759,866.30; aggregate amount of liabilities (except capital), including reinsurance reserve, $153,730.17; net assets, $256,256.13; amount of actual paid up capital, $200,000.00; surplus $56,256.13; income for the year, $167,230.44; expenditures for the year, $274,239.22.

WITNESS my name and the Official Seal of this Division, the day and year first above written.

(Seal) Charles T. Warner, Supt. of Ins. of Ohio

One can use stenciled patterns for the furniture or drapery of any informal room. Curtains of plain cotton fabrics stenciled in geometrical or conventionalized flowers or bird patterns are delightful for the kitchen, breakfast or sunroom, or for the bathroom. If the closets are the spacious ones including room for dressing-table and chair, then the curtains, dressing-table drapes, cushion for chair, etc., can all be the same stenciled pattern with very cheerful results.

Certainly, the stenciled room will delight the children, and if a beginning is made with a stenciled floor covering of composition material, a similar motif can readily be repeated in either the curtains or the decoration for chairs, tables, desks, bed, etc. Stenciled patterns have this advantage to the eye of many who have a bias for this form of coloring—that they provide cheerful splashes of color and pattern, yet they do not become tiresome as many positive patterns occasionally do.

Chiefly, however their advantage lies in the ease with which they make it popular for the home decorator to achieve professional effects with a brush and paint pot.

Hitler's Forces Register Victory

(By Associated Press)

DARMSTADT, HESSE, Germany Nov. 16.—Adolph Hitler's national Socialists had scored another provincial victory over the moderate supporters of the government of Chancellor Heinrich Bruening today, as results of elections for the state of Hesse yesterday gave them control of the diet. They secured 27 seats where they formerly held none.

The Social Democrats and Centerists, most prominent of the moderate coalition supporting the chancellor's government in the nation, lost 9 to 24, and 3 out of 13 seats, respectively. The Communists added 6 to their present 4 seats. All 6 gains at the expense of the Social Democrats.

More than one-third of the entire electorate of the state voted for Hitler's men.

Chancellor Bruening himself took the stump during the campaign, as did Hitler.

Persons who want anything know that The News is the Want Medium in this vicinity. So read it.
